

Symphonia Orchestra, Boca Museum of Art to Co-Host “Venetian Refractions: A Night of Art, Music, Italian Indulgence” September 26th

The Symphonia, South Florida’s premier chamber orchestra, and the Boca Raton Museum of Art will co-host “Venetian Refractions: A Night of Art, Music, and Italian Indulgence” on Friday, September 26th at the Boca Raton Museum of Art in Mizner Park.

Set against the backdrop of the Museum’s Glasstress Boca Raton 2025 exhibit and featuring Italian music played by Symphonia musicians, the evening will begin with cocktails in the Museum’s Sculpture Garden followed by an exclusive, music accompanied after-hours visit to the exhibit and a gourmet four-course Italian dinner. Each course will be expertly paired with fine Italian wines and music. Presentations by the chef, sommelier, Symphonia Director and Museum Curator will enhance the experience, connecting flavors, music and visuals.

Glasstress is a project in Venice, Italy, that brings international artists together to experiment with glass artistry, with an aim to increase the prestige of glass as fine art. Glasstress Boca Raton 2025 showcases more than 20 extraordinary works by such global icons as Sean Scully, Thomas Schütte, Maria Magdalena Campos-Pons and Jose Alvarez, among others.

“This is a celebration of artistic innovation and cultural collaboration,” said Annabel Russell, Executive Director of The Symphonia. “It’s a rare opportunity to experience such an immersive event encompassing so many aspects of Italian artistry with music, visual art, wine and cuisine. Venite con noi!”

Tickets are $125 per person and are available for purchase at thesymphonia.org.

About The Symphonia.

Recognized as the region’s premier chamber orchestra, it provides high-quality classical music for the enjoyment and benefit of the South Florida community. Founded in 2004, the group’s performances and educational outreach programs feature nationally and internationally acclaimed conductors and soloists, enhancing the cultural lives of area residents with special emphasis on its younger citizens. About The Boca Raton Museum of Art. Founded by artists in 1950 as the Art Guild of Boca Raton, the Boca Raton Museum of Art has evolved into a vital cultural resource. The Museum’s original building on Palmetto Park Road now serves as the Museum’s Art School nestled within a three-acre sculpture park.

In 2001 the Museum received land in Mizner Park. Designed by Donald Singer, the current Museum facility, with its bold volumes and emblematic design, reflects the spirit of Addison Mizner’s Mediterranean Revival architecture of the 1920s that provided an indelible mark on Boca Raton. The Museum attracts visitors from a wide range of regions, with nearly 50% of them cultural tourists from drive markets or out-of-state, underscoring the appeal of its reputation, quality of programs and supporting the Museum’s mission to be a vital cultural resource dedicated to the creative life. Are You Creative Enough for Your Words to Become Famous? Join the “Ode to Boca” Centennial Initiative

Your words can help create a lasting legacy. An Ode is a simple five-line poem based on your zip code. (For example, if the first two numbers in your postal zip code are 34, the first line of your poem would consist of three words and the second line of four words.)

Join the city’s Ode to Boca poetry initiative, write a five-line poem that shares what you love about our community, and your poem may be one of those selected for a new Centennial themed mural on the Mizner Park Amphitheater stage doors, or for future public art installations and creative projects across our city. The Ode to Boca initiative turns local voices into lasting expressions of place and pride. See already completed and upcoming projects by visiting: www.myboca.us/PublicArt

Submit your Ode to Boca today, it’s easy. Five lines, using the number of words based on your zip code. Submit online at www.myboca.us/OdeToBoca.

Hydroponic farming uses significantly less water and space than traditional agriculture while offering members the very best in quality and care. Featured varieties include sunflower, radish and arugula microgreens, chives, basil, thyme, mint and dill.

To help members connect more personally with the initiative, Chef Maybury will be featuring these hydroponically grown microgreens and herbs during special events, wine dinners and other gourmet dinners. During these occasions he will be available to answer questions, share insights and offer tasting notes on how these fresh ingredients are being thoughtfully incorporated into elevated menus.

Whether members and guests are curious about the benefits of hydroponic growing or simply excited to experience something fresh and innovative, they will be able to connect directly with the Chef.
